Dr. Hagerty Is Chairman

Alumni Dinner For Graduates

Senior Week activities will open with a retreat to be held at El Retiro, Jesuit retreat house at Los Altos, beginning on Monday, June 2, and will continue until Wednesday, June 4. As chairman of the committee making preparations for senior week activities, Dr. James L. Hagerty stated that a full program was rapidly nearing completion.

On Thursday evening, June 5, the annual senior dinner, at which members of the 1947 graduating class will be guests of the Alumni Association, will be held at the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, 631 O'Farrell street, San Francisco. Reservations may be made with Edward J. McSweeney, San Francisco, at RAndolph 8802.

Speakers of the evening will be alumnus William Simon, attorney presently associated with the Federal Bureau of Invsetigation.

TALKS ON FRIDAY

On Friday morning, June 6, a discussion on "Catholic Action and Lay Leadership" is scheduled. This discussion will be led by a speaker well versed on the current problems and difficulties of Catholic activity. Dr. Hagerty temporarily withheld the speaker's name pending his official acceptance.

After the luncheon held on the campus, Friday afternoon will be dedicated to discussions on the civic duties of the graduate, which discussions will be conducted by speakers chosen from various professional fields.

ROUNDUP DINNER

Members of the graduating class and their parents will attend a dinner here on the campus on Saturday evening, June 7. This "Last Roundup" dinner will be followed by a gathering of the seniors and their parents in the lounge, at which time the graduating students will supply the entertainment of the evening, featuring faculty lampooning and scholastic burlesque.

The purpose of this "Last Roundup" dinner and entertainment gives the graduating students a chance to actively show appreciation to their parents for having made possible their college education.

Sunday, June 8, Commencement Day, will begin with mass and breakfast. Brother Austin will preside at the breakfast, at which time representatives of each class will give farewell speeches to the graduating class. Among the probable list of speakers will be Dr. Hagerty, Father Edmund Moss and Brother Albert.

THE PILGRIMAGE

In order to acquaint family members and visitors with the facilities and beauty of Saint Mary's campus, a pilgrimage will be conducted by members of the graduating class who will point out and briefly explain the spots visited. This pilgrimage will conclude with a recitation of the rosary in the Chapel.

The final commencement exercises will begin at 2 p.m. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Reverend Joseph Munier, Ph.D., it was announced by Father Edmund Moss today.

Father Munier, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate from the University of California, is presently a professor of sociology at the major seminary at Menlo Park. He received his doctor of philosophy in sociology from the Catholic University in Washington, D. C. Father Munier is presently state chaplain for the Knights of Columbus.

PUBLIC RELATIONS—Bill Bettencourt, director of public relations and publications, will announce the 1947-48 Collegian staff at next Tuesday night's annual and traditional Collegian banquet.

Collegian Staff Banquet Tuesday

1947-48 Positions To Be Announced

With only one more issue to be put to bed this semester—next Thursday's! —the annual and traditional Collegian banquet will be held on the campus next Tuesday night starting at 6:30 o'clock.

This was announced last night by Bill Bettencourt, Director of Public Relations and Publications, who will make known the 1947-'48 Collegian staff at the banquet.

BROTHER AUSTIN ATTENDS

Brother Austin has accepted an invitation to be present.

In addition to the Collegian staff, others attending include Stanley Parmisano, student-body president; Brother Albert, director of resident students; Brother Henry, former Collegian moderator, and Bettencourt.

An entire new staff will be announced Tuesday night, Bettencourt said. Positions to be filled include those of editor, two associate editors, a news editor and an associate, a sports editor and an associate, a business manager, and a circulation manager.

COLUMNS TO BE ASSIGNED

Traditional columns such as the "Bystander", "Senior Sketch" and "Collegiana" will not be assigned to anyone until the beginning of the fall semester.

The posts of associate news and sports editors will be newly created.

PLANS FOR '48 'GAEL' GIVEN THIS WEEK

Plans for the '48 Gael are now underway it was disclosed today by Tony Poshepny, sophomore class president.

The staff so far selected consists of Walt DeFaria, editor; Poshepny and Val McKeever, co-business managers; Jack Christensen, art editor; Van Dunahoo, editorial staff; and Fred Mullen, business staff.

The future Junior Class plans to do its utmost to publish the '48 Gael, which will be the first yearbook since 1942, Poshepny said. An attempt was made last year to revive the Gael but a lack of sufficient funds made this an inmposibility. De Faria said the staff feels that as indicted by recent vote, a vast majority of the students will back the '48 Gael.

Positions are still open in all lines of work for the book. Intrested students are requested to see any member of the staff.

All Fall Boarders See Brother Albert

Brother Albert, director of resident students, has announced that all students who plan to board on the campus next semester see him during the coming week relative to confirmation of rooms.

He will be ready to take names Monday through Thursday of next week from 2-4 p.m. in room 102 of the senior dorm.

Fees Being Refunded To S. M. Veterans

Those students who have entered Saint Mary's College under the G.I. Bill of Rights previous to the present semester are asked to call at the treasurer's office at once for their matriculation and student body fee refunds, if they have not already done so.

K of C to Take Part in State Convention

Saint Mary's College Council will participate actively in the forthcoming Knights of Columbus state convention scheduled from Sunday, May 25, to Tuesday, May 27. The event will take place in Oakland.

The local chapter will be represented by grand knight Jack Erlwein and past grand knight Frank Lazio, as well as by John Accinelli and Dan Arzac, alternates.

In revealing this information Edward Cone, English instructor prominent in KC activities, declared, "All four of our delegates are privileged and urged to attend."

VARIED ACTIVITIES

Activities will include a convention Mass celebrated by state chaplain Rev. Joseph B. Munier and a memorial Mass by Most Rev. John J. Mitty, Archbishop of San Francisco. On Sunday night there will be a massive grand ball in Oakland civic auditorium. On Monday and Tuesday sessions convening in the Leamington Hotel will vote on current business and vote in new state officers.

Mr. Cone stated that matters to be voted on are important, and comprise such varied subjects as proposed legislation on parochial school bus transportation, veterans' rehabilitation, and the Tenney bill on un-American activities. The latter action refers to subversive elements in public school textbooks.

Keith Tour Winds Over Bay Area

Yesterday afternoon the Saint Mary's Art Society and some of its friends visited the home of Mrs. Keith in Berkeley, where they enjoyed the 100 or more of the paintings by William Keith distributed throughout her house. Some of the most outstanding of these are "The Spirit of Music," "The Sinuous Romantic Oak," "A Self-Portrait of Keith," and most of all the greatest masterpiece of Keith's life, "Gethsemane."

Mrs. Keith was most gracious to her guests, who were astonished to see her so alert at her advanced age of 91.

VARIED FARE

Next the group went to the Pacific School of Religion where, in the stately library, they viewed Keith's "Berkeley Oaks," and to the Oakland YMCA to admire the large "Tamalpais" by Keith. Following this, Brother Cornelius' group turned up to Piedmont and in Mrs. Moller's home saw two more fine paintings, one a "Mount Shasta" and the other "Abraham's Sacrifice," of which Saint Mary's painting (in the chapel vestibule) is a facsimile.

The last stop in the Keith tour was at the home of Mrs. Maxwell Milton. Among her various paintings the group admired the "Grand Oak Forest" by Keith.

This was the first activity undertaken this semester by the Saint Mary's Art Society. It is projected that in the course of the Fall semester the program of activities will include a tour similar to yesterday's.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR SENIOR CLASS

In a short meeting this week the Junior class, next year's senior class, elected its officers for the forthcoming fall and spring semesters. The meeting was marked by controversy only in the case of the office of treasurer, in which a tie resulted and Frank Lazio cast the deciding vote.

Chuck Rainey was overwhelmingly voted into the office of president, defeating Mike Tobin, his sole opponent. Other officers are George Saunders, vice-president, Bob Ghiradelli, secretary, Al Hackbarth, treasurer, and Henry Buckingham, and Walt Englert. Representatives to the Ex-Council. The new post of class intra-mural sports manager will be filled by A. Ahtty.

RAINEY COMMENTS

Commenting on the results, Rainey said, "We plan to have a successful year, and to cooperate with the other classes. In particular, we intend to back Poshepny's class in putting out the yearbook."

In the recent student body elections, Rainey was defeated by Dick Montgomery in his campaign for the ASSMC vice-presidency.

Cotruvo, Paulsen Win In ASSMC Re-Election

COTRUVO

It's Worth Repetition!

In the run-off elections held this week to break the deadlock for ASSMC secretary and rally committee chairman, Mario Cotruvo was elected secretary and Jerry Paulsen eked out an eight-vote majority to gain undisputed claim to the office of rally committee chairman.

A light vote gave Cotruvo 272 ballots to Pat Henderson's 218 counters, while in a nip and tuck battle Jerry Paulsen garnered 249 votes to Dick Westervelt's 241 markers.

The re-vote was necessary when the two candidates for each office evenly divided the ballots between them in last week's student body elections.

Mario Cotruvo is presently a feature writer on the Collegian staff. Jerry Paulsen has worked the past year on the Rally committee with Chairman Bob Russell.

Palace Hotel Is Host Tonight to Farewell Prom

Rugani Expects 300 Couples to Fill Ballroom

Final arrangements for the "Senior Farewell and Junior Prom" dance scheduled for this evening were announced today by Ray Rugani, senior class president, and Frank Lazio, junior class president.

"To minimize the numerous inconveniences it was decided that the Senior Farewell and Junior Prom would be optional dress. However, we suggest a semi-formal dress," said Rugani.

There has been dissension among the classes as to whether the dance should be formal or informal.

Frank Lazio said, "This is the last dance of the year and we know it will be a success. We hope to see all Saint Mary's men there."

PALACE BALLROOM

Rugani estimated that 500 would attend the dance at the Palace Hotel's grand ballroom in San Francisco. The tickets, if any remain, he said, may be purchased from either juniors or seniors. A few may be available at the door.

The no-corsage rule is in effect. Bids are priced at $3. Dancing is from 9 to 1 o'clock with music by Phil Vance's ten-piece band and vocalist. This band has played leading entertainment spots in Northern California and is making its initial appearance before a Saint Mary's crowd tonight.

RIDES PROMISED

Attempts have been made to arrange transportation for those who can't obtain rides. Furthermore, there has been an effort made to reschedule the baseball game so that it won't interfere with the dance.

Rugani went on to say: "The Senior Farewell and Junior Prom brings to a close Saint Mary's social life for the year 1946-47. It is our desire to climax a successful year with a gala send-off to the graduating seniors.

"This traditional function has always been one of our most popular dances. We have every indication that it will continue to be appreciated. We urge all to attend."

Faculty sponsors are Brother Austin, F. S. C., president of Saint Mary's College; Brother Albert, F. S. C., dean of resident students; Father Moss, chaplain; Brother Bede Edward, F. S. C., moderator of junior class; and Doctors Le Fevre and Baker.

This one dance will replace the separate dances by each class as has been the custom in the past. The classes decided upon the change because the year's end was so near and crowded with activities.

Ham Station Planned by Radio Club

Alpha Rho Sigma, the campus amateur radio society, concluded its first semester of existence yesterday with election of officers. Newly chosen president for the club was Robert Oliver. Other officers were not immediately known. Oliver succeeds George Saunders, who was acting temporarily as president.

The amateur radio club, youngest of all campus organizations, now numbers approximately 20 members. The main activity of the club at present is the conducting of classes in radio code and theory. These sessions, taught by hams Osborne, Saunders and Rainey, are designed to help the tyros get their licenses. In other words, special emphasis is being placed upon material they will be likely to encounter in examinations. According to present reports, several of the members will be able to get their amateur licenses sometime this summer.

Recently the club purchased handbooks and license manuals for those beginners who asked for these books.

Plans for next semester, as outlined by club secretary Osborne, center around the construction of a radio station on the campus. However, until next year's students are housed, plans must remain tentative. If all goes well, the station will be located in the Annex. Inquiries are already being made as to the purchases of surplus equipment for the station.

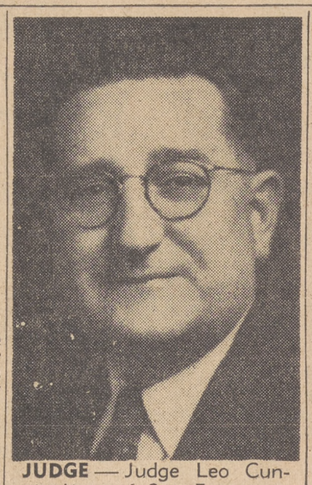
Further plans include an intensive drive for new members from the freshman class and a continuation of the popular theory and code classes.

The club has been put on a firm basis by means of a constitution written by Robert Osborne, secretary. It was discussed, amended, and finally ratified some few meetings ago.

Collegian Presses Cease Rolling May 28

The next and final issue of the Saint Mary's Collegian will come off the presses on Wednesday, May 28.

The last two meetings of the semester for Collegian staff members will take place on Friday and Monday at 12:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend, since important matters will be discussed.



JUDGE — Judge Leo Cunningham of San Francisco, prominent alumnus, will be one of the officials for Homecoming Day.

CHAIRMAN—Raymond J. Arata, '28, San Francisco attorney will preside over Sunday's Homecoming Day festivities.

Presentation Wins 3 Awards

Awards Given in State-Wide Contest

The Academy of the Presentation, girls' high school of San Francisco, walked away with three of the top awards in the fifteenth annual Saint Mary's press convention held on the campus last Saturday.

For the third successive year the girls from Presentation won first honors for the best girls' high school publication. This entitled them to perpetual ownership of the Lt. Francis Cabrall Memorial trophy.

The third and final award to the Academy of the Presentation was the Julia Twomey trophy for the best individual writer. According to Mr. Thomas Twomey, head judge in this field, the competition was close. He said that five girls vied in a close race for the award and that the decision was difficult to make. Four of the girls were from the Academy of the Presentation and one from Immaculate Conception Academy, also of San Francisco. Miss Betty Barnacle was finally selected as the best individual writer.

The Immaculate Conception Academy received the Lt. Louis DeAlva Memorial award for second place in girls' publications.

Sacred Heart High school of San Francisco became winner of the first place trophy for boys' high school newspapers for the second consecutive year. Sacred Heart was run a close second by the up-and-coming "Loyalist", publication of Loyola high of Los Angeles. These were, the William Feneran and Gerald Ring Memorial trophies, respectively.

TERM'S TRANSITION TALKS TERMINATED

Edward J. McSweeny was the speaker at the last of the senior transition talks given this term. The topic for his speech was "The graduate in business."

McSweeny graduated from Saint Mary's College in the class of '35 and then became private secretary for "Slip" Madigan, a position which he held for four years. He then was employed by J. Philip Murphy in the Judsen-Murphy Steel Company. McSweeny advanced steadily until the termination of his employment eight years later.

Branching out on his own, he next became a partner in the Shepherd-McSweeny Steel Company. He is now the sole owner of that firm.

President's Alumni Message

Homecoming this year finds the college back to its normal peace-time operation with the Navy buildings in various stages of removal as the only exterior signs of four years of war-time pursuits.

Everything, then, points to considerable activity in the years ahead. The college enrollment will keep on increasing at least for some time; that will mean problems of many types, in faculty, accommodations and the like.

These years in the immediate future should be fruitful years and, while taxing facilities to the utmost, will also afford Saint Mary's an opportunity of exercising a greater influence than ever before.

A leveling-off period will follow this first unusual growth, but the average total enrollment will in all probability be higher than the pre-war normal.

The resurgence of new life in the Alumni Association is deserving of the highest praise and augurs well for the future. It fits in with the already marked growth of the college.

It is to be hoped that on this Homecoming Day the Alumni, in touch again with the source of strength of its Alma Mater. will derive enlightened inspiration, new vigor, and a firm resolve to carry into affect both as individuals and as a group a program of action surpassing anything so far envisaged.

——BRO. AUSTIN, F.S.C.,
President of the College.

DR. BAKER TO QUIT SM THIS SEMESTER

Dr. Richard Baker, Assistant Professor of Philosophy at the college, will leave Saint Mary's at the end of the current semester for his home in Dayton, Ohio, to accept a similar post at the University of Dayton in the fall.

Dr. Baker has taught at Saint Mary's since the fall of 1945. Prior to that time he spent nine years as a philosophy instructor at the college of the Nazareth in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Dr. Baker was born and raised in the city of Dayton. He expressed great pleasure with his new post, since he has long been searching for a suitable position near home, he said.

He plans to leave by auto, accompanied by Mr. Bricault and Mr. Grinnell shortly after commencement exercises. His wife and family left for the East three weeks ago.

Spring Has Sprung, The Grass Has Riz I Wonder When My Finals Is?

Brother Julian said that all examinations will be held in the regular classroom except where official notices direct otherwise. He also stated that no changes are to be made on the listed examination schedule unless authorized beforehand by his office and urged that any conflicts, errors or omissions be reported immediately.

Gael Gossip

By Dick Siggins, Sports Editor

There aren't any old timers who can be convinced that Louie Guisto was not the greatest all around athlete that Saint Mary's has ever produced.

Numerous collegians have been immortalized in Gael athletic history, both out here in the Moraga valley, and down at the "Brickpile" in Oakland, but the greatest of these was, for sure, Louie Guisto.

Most Gael followers know of Guisto. Most Gael students know Guisto himself, for he manages the Co-op here on the campus.

We decided it was a fine time to jot down a few sentences about the great "Dago" when we came across an article a former ace Collegian sports scribener and one time sports editor had written about him over four years ago. The piece was written by Eymard Gallagher who is now a student for the priesthood at Saint Patrick's seminary in Menlo Park.

Here is, without quotes, Gallagher's composition on the former Gael grid and diamond great.

Cal's "Pest"

Attending the Broadway institution from 1911 to 1915, Guisto played rugby, football and baseball, and he was a star in every one. California especially feared this Gael great, for he was, perhaps, the greatest single "pest" they have ever had to encounter for four years.

It was as a baseballer that Lou made his greatest contributions to Gael athletic fame. As a member of the Phoenix he usually held down the first sack. It was when big Lou picked up the willow that he struck dread in all opponents. His great pastime seemed to be breaking up ninth inning deadlocks with circuit clouts.

Such was the case in the spring of 1915. The Phoenix and the Bears had played eight and a half innings of scoreless ball on the old Broadway diamond. The sun was sinking below the Golden Gate, when Louie Guisto strides to the plate and parks one beyond all the outfielders for a home run.

Rugby All-American

For three years Lou played rugby. He became such a stellar performer that in 1914 he was chosen as a member of an All-American rugby team that competed against a British group. The Yanks won this last great International Rugby game and it was a sub named Guisto who scored the two winning tallies.

In his senior year football replaced rugby in college competition. Although weighing 205 pounds, Lou was a streak of lightning as the Gael's halfback. He ran wild against California in this fall of 1915 in the third and deciding game of the series. From punt formation in his own end zone Guisto raced 105 yards to a touchdown. Later in the same contest he scampered 80 yards, only to have the play called back.

Graduating in 1915, Guisto continued his stardom on the diamond. The Portland Beavers signed this Phoenix flash. In his debut in coast league play in San Francisco, on the first ball pitched to this youthful first-sacker, he clouted it for a home run. He became the sensation of the league and within weeks he found himself in Cleveland playing for the Indians.

World War I

Then came the war, and Guisto's major league career was halted, but he continued his role as a star on the battlefield. Lou saw plenty of action in France. His great throwing arm, so beneficial to him in his baseball career, was also an asset to him now; when with uncanny accuracy from behind his own lines, time and time again he tossed hand grenades into German nests.

Guisto returned after the war to continue in baseball. He played with Oakland. One year he led the league in home runs. In 1927 he returned to the Phoenix as a coach.

When he retired from baseball he did not sever his relations with his Alma Mater.

Probably the greatest all-around athlete Saint Mary's has ever had, Louie Guisto, hero as an athlete and as a soldier, undoubtedly will rank at the top in the Valhalla of fame for men of Saint Mary's.

Here 'N Thar . . .

The lamp that could not be hidden beneith a bushel was the double play combination which was the sidelight attraction of this year's Phoenix. The Tinkers (Arnerich) to Evers (Buick) to Chance-s (Lorenzini or Colgan) accounted for forty twin killings in the last 32 contests, which, of course, is a boastful average. In conference games alone the combine totaled at least twenty DP's . . . Have heard rumors that a muchly needed vacant coaching position will be filled within the next few weeks. Only rumors, no action, since the resignation of the Blond Baron, Swede Anderson. . . Working for a sporting goods concern in San Francisco and part time employee at Seals Statium is Eddie Wallace, who played for Hal Chase's Phoenix in 1917. . . . Gael athletic trainer Bill Fallon will begin his sixth year on the campus this fall. The Bostonian bandager came here to head the training deparmtent of the Saint Mary's Pre-Flight school. In 1945 he switched allegiance and moved to the other side of the campus. He is regarded by Phelan as one of the top trainers in the business.

HAL CHASE

"Prince" Hal Coached '07 Phoenix Nine

By DICK CARDOZA

Hal Chase, one of the greatest first basemen in baseball's history, and one of the greatest coaches that ever tutored a Phoenix team, is dead.

Death came last Sunday after a long illness and he was buried Wednesday in San Jose. He was 64.

COACHED PHOENIX '07

Hal Chase's most notable achievement at Saint Mary's was the Phoenix team that he coached in 1907. That Phoenix team achieved the distinction of being the greatest baseball team ever to pass through the Saint Mary's portals.

That Phoenix team of 1907 finished the season with 26 wins and one tie, the tie being a scoreless deadlock with a group of major league all-stars. During that season, the Chase-coached team dropped Sacramento of the old State League, 3-0, and the Los Angeles Angels, 4-2.

DOUBLE SQUEEZE

Hal Chase instituted the first double squeeze play ever recorded in baseball history during his stay at Saint Mary's. Two men scoring on a bunt was as much a thrill then as it is now.

Five Hal Chase tutored players of that '07 Phoenix went to the major leagues. The most notable of these were: Harry Hooper, who joined Tris Speaker in the Boston Red Sox outfield; Eddie Burns, who went to the Philadelphia Phillies and caught for the great Grover Alexander, and Harry Krause, who traveled to the Philadelphia Athletics via the old Sacramento Senators of the State League.

JOINS NEW YORK

Hal Chase remained with the Phoenix but one short season before he was called to play first base for the New York Americans, the present Yankees and then known as the Highlanders.

In 1913 "Prince" Hal joined the Chicago White Sox. Subsequently he played with the Buffalo Federals and the Cincinnati Reds. He completed his major league career in 1919 with the New York Giants.

An excellent fielder, his fielding prowess always overshadowed his batting. Yet he was probably the best hit-and-run batter of his time. In 1916, the year he joined the National League and the Cincinnati Reds, he won the batting championship with a 339 average.

Yes, Prince Hal is dead, but in the memory of baseball's millions and Saint Mary's College, he will live forever.

Astrid Varney, Metropolitan Opera soprano, will sing the three Bruennhilde roles in Wagner's "Ring" trilogy at the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires this summer. It is an arduous feat which has not often been attempted by American singers.

Lawrence to Run In 2 June Relays

Don Lawrence, Saint Mary's top sprinter, who was undefeated in competition this year, has stated that he intends to race in the Compton Meet on June 7, and the Pasadena Relays on June 14. Don, who was timed in :9.8 seconds this past year, says that he will run unattached unless he can pick up a Saint Mary's track suit for the meets. He will run the 100 yard dash only.

INTRAMURALS

Three Teams Top League

There is no joy in Mudville tonight, for the mighty Mudville Sluggers have taken it on the chin. The Sluggers, who were leading the league going into the first of the week, saw the underrated Sophomore class come from behind to knock them over, 18-8. The darkhorse Pinochle A. C., led by a bunch of intrepid card sharks, polished the Sluggers off 9-8 in the bottom half of the final inning.

The two defeats suffered by Jack Hachquet's ten sent the league into a three-way tie, with the Pinochle A. C. close behind. Three teams, the Meteors, Sophomores and Sluggers, have a record of five wins and two losses, while the A. C. has three wins and two losses with one game to make up.

OVERCONFIDENCE

Overconfidence showed its ugly face when the Sluggers thought the A. C. were pushovers as had the Sacramento club a week previous. Much to the chagrin of both teams, the Pinochle boys won both games. The Co-op sitters have definitely established themselves as the darkhorse of the loop.

The Meteors zoomed into first place when they knocked over the Amadors by scoring over 12 runs in one inning. According to the observers on the sidelines, however, the team to beat will be the Sophomores. Headed by the Kline, Welch, Sauret combination, the Sophs have the material and the ability to win the league.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Here are the standings as compiled by Bob Cook, intramural manager:

Team—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Meteors	5	2	.714
Sophomore	5	2	.714
Sluggers	5	2	.714
Pinochle A.C.	3	2	.600

Amadors	3	3	.500
Dingleberries	3	4	.429
Sacramento	2	4	.333

Alumnus Named Sports Editor

YUBA CITY—Leo F. Hagerty, class of 1941, was named sports editor of the Independent-Farmer, a weekly, here this week by publishers Earl C. Brownlee and Charles A. Williams. The Independent expects to go daily in a few months.

While at Saint Mary's, Haggerty was sports editor of the Collegian, and member of the staff for four years.

TOMORROW

Last Tilt For Jayvees

The junior varsity baseballers will put in their final appearance of the season tomorrow, when they vie with the U.S.F. Junior Varsity in a return engagement, here at 2:30 p.m.

The J. V.'s were victorious in their last encounter with the Dons by virtue of a ninth inning rally in which six consecutive bunts payed off to the tune of four runs. The game ended with the Gaels way out in front by a score of seven to four. The winning pitcher was 'fastballer' Dick Baptista, who allowed the Hilltoppers only five scattered hits.

On the mound for the Gaels tomorrow will be ex-Marine Don Kersten, who has one win and one loss so far this season.

Tomorrow's game will add the finishing touches to a very successful season for Coach McDermott and his crew. As the record stands now, the Jayvees have seven wins to their credit and six losses.

Recollections

BBy DICK CARDOZA

Five years ago . . . Roy Guisti labored nine innings on the Saint Mary's baseball diamond as a third baseman against Santa Clara to an unsuccessful conclusion. Thereupon he donned moleskins nd pitched the White team to a 7 to 6 victory over the Blue team in "Red" Strader's finale to the spring football practice season on the half mile high turf a half mile away.

Ten years ago . . . Johnny Owens, peppy catcher on the Saint Mary's Phoenix and a three year letterman, signed this week with the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

Twenty years ago . . . Saint Mary's Phoenix, today, clinched the championship of the California inter-collegiate baseball league by defeating the Universitw of Southern California nine, 4-1.

FIRST TRACK MEET

Thirty eight years ago, Saint Mary's and Santa Clara met in the first track meet ever to be held between the two schools. The final score: Saint Mary's 72 1/3, Santa Clara 49 2/3.

Dickson of Saint Mary's was the star of the meet. He amassed 13 points by way of a first in the pole vault and the shot put and a second place in the broad jump. His height for the pole vault was 10 feet one inch.

Peters of Santa Clara copped both dash events with a :10.3 second century and a 24 second 220 yard dash.

STRONG IN DISTANCES

Saint Mary's was exceptionally strong in the distance runs and the field events winning all but one of these events.

During this season, Saint Mary's won two and lost two track meets. Their other win was at the expense of San Jose State while both the Stanford and California Freshmen took the ede from the "Brickpile" boys.

Broncos Down Phoenix in Wild Contest

Saint Mary's temporarily dropped into the C.I.B.A. cellar by dropping their second straight game to Santa Clara, this time by a 13-12 football game score at Seals Stadium last Friday night.

The only consoling part to the Gaels was that they almost tied it in the ninth. The Broncos jumped Jack Rial for 12 runs in the first four frames. Gael fielding didn't help the cause any as there were six boots made while Rial was toiling.

Trailing 12-3 going into the sixth, the Phoenix picked up some ground by scoring five runs off Dick Smith and Galen Norquist on a wierd assortment of wild pitches and passed balls coupled with 3 hits and as many free passes.

ONE MORE RUN

They scored another in the seventh to make the score 12-9. The Broncos scored what proved to be the winning run in the last of the eighth on a walk by Pete Bedolla, a stolen base, and a single by Bill Crowley.

In the ninth the Gaels came back when Bill Van Huitt doubled, Colgan, Kling and Stan Dembecki drew walks.

Pinchhitter Bob Day singled to center and two runs scored, but Dembecki was thrown out trying to go to third on the hit. Day advanced to second on the play at third, but died there as Arnerich went down swinging to end the game.

Babe Van Huitt led the Gael hitters with four for four and Dwayne Kling had two safeties in four attempts.

Phoenix Trim Dons by Slight One Run Margin

Saint Mary's Phoenix continued her baseball track meet ways by nipping the U.S.F. Dons 12-11 at Seal Stadium Sunday.

Carrol Canfield started for Coach Johnny Vergez, but was treated rather roughly as the Dons got off to an eight-run lead. Hank Decker took over and fared a little better for a few innings.

Don starting pitcher, Jack Shields, was buzzing along in great style till the seventh inning. The only mistake he made was in the fifth when he fed a fat pitch to Bob Day who promptly smashed it high over the left field wall some 370 feet away.

SHIELDS WEAKENS

Shields noticeably weakened in the seventh as he gave up singles to Decker and Arnerich, which along with three walks brought in two Gael runs and filled the bases.

Winning Pitcher Hank Decker also drove in the deciding run with his third hit of the afternoon. Jack Buick and Dwayne Kling collected two blows as did Paul Schramka, John Vick and Frank Boland for the losers.

SHORT SCORE:

HIT SPREE

Phoenix Beat Indians, 20-2

The Phoenix blasted three Stanford pitchers for a 20-2 victory here on the Moraga campus last Tuesday.

Continuing the torrid hitting pace they have set for the past two weeks, the Gaels garnered 21 hits. Jack Buick led the onslaught with five singles and drove in four runs. Wes Colgan, Bill Brown and Lil Arnerich each pounded out three blows.

Brian McGoldrick returned to the mound for the first time in three weeks against the Indians. His leg seemed to be in pretty good shape again as he allowed but 9 hits, six of which were infield bleeders.

KNOCKED WOLF

After picking up a run in the first inning, the Phoenix knocked Stanford's starting pitcher, Larry Wolf, from the box in the third when a walk, a hit batter and five consecutive singles put 6 runs across.

In the next two frames Dave Stott was the marked man as five hits, a hit batsman, and a pair of walks netted seven more tallies. The Gaels concluded their scoring orgy in the sixth against the third pitcher, Dick Flatland. Lil Arnich singled, Bill Brown tripled him home, Herman Wedemeyer walked but was forced at second, Brown scoring.

Bill Van Huitt, who was safe on the fielder's choice, moved to third behind Buick's fifth straight single. Both tallied a moment later on Wes Colgan's homer, a line drive to deep right center, which Lloyd Merriman couldn't cut off before it had rolled into the wide open spaces beyond him. A walk and a pair of singles brought in Saint Mary's 20th run.

THREE BASE OUT

Stanford did not come close to scoring till the eighth when third-baseman Bill Arce blasted a drive to nearly the same spot as Colgan had Wedemeyer finally fielded it and threw to Bill Brown who relayed the ball on to Colgan, who took the throw near the mound and turned to fire the horsehide to Catcher Bob Day just as Arce was sliding toward the plate. Arce was out by three feet.

Finally the Indians broke through in the ninth on singles by Ward Walkup and Ted Nell. Walkup moved to third on Nell's blow and the latter went to second on the throw from Van Huitt trying to get the Indian catcher at third. Both tallied on Clyde Dingfelder's single to left on the next pitch. McGoldrick got the side out, and by chalking up his first conference victory, moved the Gaels out of the cellar.

Rial Is Mound Choice as Phoenix Seek Series Win

By 'CHUCK' McKAY

Tonight the Saint Mary's Gaels play host to the visiting U.S.C. Trojans at the Emeryville Ball Park.

This will be the third and deciding game of this years series. Two weeks ago the Phoenix split a pair with El Trojan down at Hollywood's Gilmore Field.

Not only does the outcome of tonight's game produce a series victory for someone, but it has a vital bearing on the final standings of the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association.

TROJANS IN LEAD

The Gaels, although they aren't going anywhere themselves, would like to do nothing more than knock the Trojans out of first place which they now hold over faltering California by some 30 percentage points.

This evening's contest will bring about the second clash between Saint Mary's ace right-hander Jack Rail, and Troy's Ned Haskell. Rial holds the victory in their previous meeting as a result of a neat six hit, 5-2 verdict over the slugging Trojans.

On the southern tour the Gaels did a little hitting themselves. In all they banged out 20 safeties in two games and have since increased the total to 73 in the last half dozen contests.

BUICK HAS TEN

Herman Wedemeyer has collected 11 bingles in these games, Jack Buick follows closely with 10, five of which were banged out against Stanford on Tuesday.

Tied with nine hits are Bill Brown, Dwayne Kling and Bill Van Huitt. Finally the supposedly powerful bats of the Gaels have broken lose and made themselves felt during the last part of the season.

In spite of the marathon score hung up by both the Phoenix and their opponents in recent games, Johnny Vergez pitchers haven't done too bad. The Gaels main difficulty can be traced to an error at a crucial time.

OUT OF SLUMP

With most of the boys out of their hitting slump, their fielding will get a lift too.

Southern Cal has many good stickers on their club, as evidenced by a team seasonal average of .287 thus far.

Leading the Trojan batting brigade is Archie Wilson, number 3 hitter in the CIBA with a .400 average. Next to him is cleanup hitter Ed Workman. Slick Jones, Jack Crutchfield and Jim Bridewiser have been punching out blows when they counted.

COLLEGE THRILLS

All in all, good pitching and powerful hitting should be the order for tonight coupled with the ever present thrills of college baseball.

On Sunday the Phoenix will meet Camp Stoneman here on the campus as the athletic feature of Sunday's Homecoming Day.

College of Pacific entertains the Gaels at Oak Park in Stockton Wednesday night in the concluding game of the series. In March the Vergezmen slugged out a 12-7 fin over the Tigers here at Moraga.

Herm Meister, '35, was this week appointed head football coach of Santa Rosa Junior College. Meister was regular right tackle of the 1934 and '35 Gael gridiron squads.

STOCKTON

Season's End For Golfers

Next and final meet for the Saint Mary's golf sextet takes place tomorrow afternoon on the Stockton Municipal Golf Course against the potent College of the Pacific.

The Tigers defeated the Gael club wielders earlier in the season 14½-12 1/2, and tomorrow's fairway scramble should prove as close a match. The Tigers are looking for victory number two over the Gaels.

Last Thursday at the Rinconada Country Club in Los Gatos the Santa Clarans downed the Gaels for the second time this year, 17½-3 1/2. Saint Mary's quintet, made so by the absence of one of the players, came close on each match, but each time the Bronco representative eeked under a Gael by a stroke, leaving the Gaels little in the way of points.

Fifth seeded Mel Reilly of the Prune men led the fairway parade with a 74, while Packard Harrington came home for the Gaels with a 76.

Individual match scores had Carl Lozita and Phil Griffin defeating Harrington and Wedemeyer, 6-3; Bob Wehner and Don Keith won over Jack Christensen and Bob Franc, 8½-1/2, and in the single final match, Mel Reilly beat Tom Kolb, 6-0.

College of Pacific meet, the final of the season, will have Harington, Wedemeyer, Captain Jack Christensen, Tony Poshepny, Bob Franc and Tom Kolb putting on the Stockton fairways in the hopes of annexing a split with the Tigers and making their third victory of the season.

The Saint Mary's sextet have won two and lost nine in the eleven games played to date.

Red-Blue Game Held Here Today

This afternoon at 3:30 the 1947 edition of the Galloping Gael football machine will be previewed in the Red and Blue game. The game, which was an annual affair before the war, is being played for the first time since 1942. It is always played on the termination of spring practice and this year is no exception.

In the last game the Gaels were led by such immortals as Johnny Podesto, Roy Guisti and Tony Compagno. The game this afternoon will be no different in that it will feature All-American Herman Wedemeyer and his fine running mate "Spike" Cordeiro. Gael fans have been looking forward to seeing these two boys in action since January 1, 1946, when they led St. Mary's to the Sugar Bowl after completing one of their most successful seasons.

PADRE DAY MASS—A solemn Mass in the college chapel marked observance of Padre Day Tuesday. Here (left to right) are Rev. Eugene Duggan, assistant pastor of Saint Jarlath's Church, Oakland; Rev. Fr. Leach Preaches on Padre Day

With a eulogy to Saint John Baptist de LaSalle and to the men who are following in his footsteps, the Brothers of the Christian Schools, Reverend Cyril Leach in his sermon Tuesday climaxed the student's participation in the annual Padre Day celebration.

Father Leach, assistant pastor of Mission Dolores, spoke of adhering to the "true vision of Saint John" and of how "in the bright students the Brothers received encouragement; in the dull students their bread and butter; and in all the students the salvation fo their souls."

Right Reverend Monsignor William F. Flanagan, director of Catholic charities for the archdiocese, celebrated the Mass. Both the student's and the brother's choir and Mr. Maurice Bricault as soloist sang the Mass.

At the conclusion of the Mass, the priests adjourned to the Brother's study where acquaintances were renewed and new ones made.

A buffet luncheon was served at which Brother Austin welcomed the guests and remarked at how Saint John Baptist de LaSalle must have looked down on the ceremonies with a great deal of satisfaction. Both Coaches Jimmy Phelan and Johnny Vergez spoke on the athletic prospects of football and baseball respectively.

The afternoon was devoted to walking about the campus, swimming, and later attending either the Saint Mary's-Stanford baseball game or the football scrimmage.

Inventor, Painter and Scholar—Brother Cornelius

If homework's got you down and you're too tired to study, you might take a look at the collection of original pastels collected by Brother Cornelius. If you're hankering to try out your language skill on him, he'll be glad to oblige in any of five languages. And if you're an Econ student who would like to pick up some sharp business practices, you might ask the good Brother about his carborundum paper patent and the great business promotion incident. All this is in addition to getting a picture of Europe as he saw it.

There are 50 or so pastels, all done by Brother Cornelius. They are scenes drawn during his trip to Europe several years ago. He spent three months journeying through southern Europe, three more months in northern Europe, and nine months in Belgium, making a second novitiate, as the Brothers call it, at the Brothers' motherhouse.

One of the most appealing pastels is a view of Zurich, Switzerland, the town which Brother returned to 50 years after leaving it at the age of six to come to America.

That 50 years contains a host of memories: of the times long ago when the Brothers taught him, a stripling of 15, to draw so well that he sent work to the World's Fair of 1893; of waiting 15 years to get what he wanted, a trip to Europe; of the short-cuts and ways to get around Europe on slender funds; of talking with foreign monks in out of the way corners of Europe.

After seeing the beauties of Greece, Palestine, Germany, and Spain, he confesses to liking the countryside of southern England best.

The pastels look remarkably like oils, although they are drawn with a type of crayon. Each pastel requires from 50 to 90 minutes to draw. Of special interest to students should be a pastel of Saint Mary's chapel against a snow background in 1941 and the missions of California.

Library Is Undergoing New Changes

The campus library, which was the subject of much controversy during the past school year, is presently undergoing structural alterations aiming at its enlargement. These alterations, which began a few weeks ago, will continue during the summer months in order to be ready for the use of the students next September.

The section of the administrative building in which the library is presently located will comprise the main unit of the library as planned. The building adjoining both the library and the mess hall will be annexed as part of the library and will be used as a reading room.

ASSEMBLED IN LIBRARY

During the past month the books which were scattered throughout the different divisions of the college and in the Brothers' Community Room have been assembled in the library for cataloging, after which they will be made accessible to the entire student body.

Brother Clement estimated that the total number of books that will be available in the completed library will range somewhere around 30,000 volumes. Many of these books were donated by the campus council of the Knights of Columbus.

Many sections of shelving shall be constructed and put to use in both the main library and also in the reading room.

NEW TABLES

The tables being used in the library now are to be torn apart and reconstructed forming larger tables. Chairs will replace the benches now being used.

While the Navy Pre-flight School was here, the building being adjoined to the library as a reading room was used as part of the Navy mess hall.

Brother Clement anticipated that these alterations to the library would mean much to next year's student body. "The part that a library plays in the pursuit of a college education hardly needs explanation," said Brother Clement.

Frosh Elect Class Officers In Primaries

With barely half of the freshmen voting, most of next year's sophomore class officers were elected last Wednesday. The election served as a primary for the offices of president and class representatives.

For the chief executive's position, the candidates receiving the greatest number of votes, Herbert Reynolds and Joe Rubio, will qualify as the only candidates for a run-off election. For class representatives, four students, Jim Doud, John Russell, Ed Arnold, and Arch Dessert, will compete again to determine which two of them will be elected to this post. Both run-off elections will be held on Friday in the Co-op between 10 and 3.

In the race for the vice presidency, Warren Gabrielli won an easy majority over his competitor, Keith Mjelde.

John Styslinger was elected secretary of the sophomore class, defeating his nearest opponent, Thomas Burns, by 36 votes.

OTHER OFFICES

For treasurer the elections results favored John Greene who was victorious over his three rivals.

The office of intramural manager was one of the most highly contested with Emil Tangetti having a mere 8 votes plurality over Les Luby.

Election officials said they hoped all the freshmen would vote in Friday's run-off election. Also, all the voters were reminded that two candidates should be chosen for class representative.

Dear Sir:

Allow me to express my sincere and profuse congratulations on occasion of your magnificent front page editorial of the last issue.

As an active member of my class, I appreciate your effort at injecting into certain elements the sense of the hallowed traditions of Saint Mary's College which they lack. Putting the monetary before the standing of the school in the eyes of the public from whom we draw our support is disgraceful.

I trust the majority will join those who have decided to keep these traditions, and, by taking advantage of the proffered option in dress, will attend the Prom in formal attire.

Our four years here at Saint Mary's are transitory, but our actions during these years will determine the whole future of the school. We don't have the right to break with tradition!

Hackbarth, who holds a rank equivalent to that of Lt. Commander, sails tonight on the SS Marine Adder, an American President Line ship. He was a crew member aboard this same ship before coming to Saint Mary's this term.

In the course of his summer's voyage, Hackbarth will visit such ports as Manilla, Yokohama, Hongkong, Shanghai, Singapore and Bombay. By special arrangement, he took his final examinations this week before departing.

K. OF C. INITIATES ONE S.M. STUDENT

Joe Zanetti, active freshman student, was this week received into the first degree, Knights of Columbus.

The ceremony, which the aspirant termed, "a beautiful and impressive ritual," took place in the chambers of Berkeley council. Zanetti was the only Saint Mary's candidate, although others from Berkeley and Oakland were initiated with him. Refreshments were served.

Guest speaker at the gathering was Brother Bede Edward, campus KC moderator, who gave an account of the latest developments in the fraternities drive to have legislation passed permitting transportation of parochial pupils on public school buses. Reuben Bremond, third degree member from Saint Mary's, was also present.

SUMMER JOBS NOW OPEN TO STUDENTS

Two local officers are looking for men to be used in summer employment, the college administration announced today.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company offers desirable permanent positions for young men of this years' graduating class, according to C. W. Corlett, general employment manager for the telephone company.

Those interested are invited to discuss telephone work with Mr. Raycraft at 1801 Franklin street, Oakland, or Mr. Turman at 140 New Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Another position with the U. S. Geological Survey is offered those students who wish to work this summer. A rodman is needed by the survey. The pay is $180.00 a month for a five day week. The applicant must be eighteen or over. The work will be in the general area of Walnut Creek and Lafayette. Those interested in this work should contact Mr. S. Bock, P. O. Box 489, Lafayette, before the first week of June, when work is to begin.

Clothes Drive Ends De Paul Club Year

Climaxing a year of activity in the field of Catholic action, the Saint Vincent De Paul Society has inaugurated the second clothes drive of the school year.

Commencing Monday, members of the society will conduct a door-to-door campaign in an effort to collect discarded clothes which can be mended and distributed to the poor. Four days will be devoted to the drive which will end on Thursday evening.

The items collected by these volunteer workers will be sorted on the campus and then sent to Saint Vincent De Paul headquarters in Oakland where they will be washed and mended and from which terminus they will be distributed. It is required that garments submitted to the drive be suitable for mending.

Silas Garcia, president of the Saint Mary's chapter of the Saint Vincent De Paul Society, announced, "We will gladly accept any garment, no matter what it may be, provided only that it can be mended for use. Any article will be greatly appreciated, even articles of athletic equipment."

In determining a quota, the society has decided that one garment per student is not too much to ask for this work of Christian charity.

The Nostalgia of College Days

Once again we, the students of Saint Mary's, extend our welcome to our alumni on their annual homecoming.

Words of welcome, so often uttered, seem trite to us on this occasion because of their inability to adequately express our deep, sincere feelings. We, who here strive to be in your footsteps, long for the day when we may feel the deep nostalgia for our college and long to tread its hallowed paths and hallways again. We look forward with longing to the days when finals, inconveniences of communal life and petty gripes seem almost too insignificent to recall to the memory of happy companionship and carefree college days.

We envy your opportunity to renew, if only for a fleeting moment, the close friendships of your college days. We hope for the time when the traditions of the college and their furtherance will be of much more importance to us than they seem at present.

The days of complaint over the worthiness of this or that subject will be gone when we realize that they were of the utmost aid in making us good, substantial, well-educated Catholic men. We long for the success attained by so many of the Saint Mary's men.

With these thoughts in mind, then, we hope sincerely that each of you may enjoy your nostalgic pilgrimage to your seat of learning. We hope that this may be the most successful homecoming yet held. And we hope that in the not-too-distant future we may join you on an equal footing and on as an equally successful day as yours will prove to be.

Revival of Interest Here Noted

In recent weeks the Collegian has been the object of a good deal of criticism. Its policies, features, editors and their friends have all been subjected to the merciless thrusts of sideline swordmouths.

Strange as it may seem, we are very pleased with this situation. Formerly, we received no comment at all on the paper. At that time we had serious doubts whether or not it was being read. Now at least we know that the paper is being eagerly read, with mayhem in mind perhaps, but read nevertheless.

This indicates a healthy condition on the campus. It shows that the preliminary period of frantic adjustment and indecisiveness is at long last disappearing. Students are now taking a more active interest in their surroundings. They are beginning to realize that there is more to a school than the pages of the greenbook would indicate.

In the recent elections we had a taste of this newly-born feeling of interest. Surely the campaigns and elections were carried on in a most praiseworthy manner. Underneath all of the surface tomfoolery was a serious desire to choose worthy men. While everyone enjoyed the campaign stunting, none let the glimmer and glint influence them seriously when they got to the polls.

In these two observations, as well as in the enthusiasm for club activities shown during the latter part of the year, we find this vigorous spirit, this feeling that there are things to be done, which was so obviously missing earlier.

We are glad that it is here at last.

The Keynote Was Unity

The Fifteenth Annual Saint Mary's Press Conference was a complete success. This was due, not to the efforts of any one man, but the application of the old formula of uniting together to carry out an activity.

The luncheon was certainly one of the finest held at any press convention. The speeches were short, interesting and to the point, and the program of the day was carried through with all the efficiency of a well-oiled machine. In fact, the efforts of all concerned left the high school newspaper delegates with a clear and concise view of the journalistic world, their chances and their places in it.

Without a doubt the press convention may be taken as a classic example of cor-ordination between the officers and members of the Fourth Estate and the college administration.

We point with pride to this organization of spirited journalists, led by Jerry Murphy, which has once more renewed the old tradition of the annual press convention. Congratulations to all who contributed toward its success.

LET'S MAKE THIS A GREAT HOMECOMING!

MEMOIRS OF A CAMPUS COLUMNIST:
CHAPTER SIX—WONDERING ALOUD

The end of a semester is well in sight these days, and so many an eye is turned already to the summer . . . with one Frank Callen set for a sitting summer position as an uplands deputy sheriff . . . and various rods beginning to put oil in their engines again, in anticipation of a warm summer driving season . . . but most of all the exams are making crow's feet on brows as seniors to frosh put in time wondering just what is going to be asked and how and so forth . . . while the wind continues to blow, making one hour red-hot and the next not-so-hot, with the net result that just about everyone except Jiggs has a cold these days . . . though Doctor Baker has already shipped his family and chattels east as he finishes up his last weeks at Saint Mary's—signs of another school year already, because he is moving to Dayton University in the fall . . . and of course his students are worried about these tests right here and now—though even they have a big eye on the summer's festivities . . . such shenanigans as these are in evidence as the last week before finals draws to a close.

BLUE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

It is amazing how little attention the average student will admit he pays to the campus he lives on and sees every day . . . that is, until something occurs which he does not actually give great approval to . . . and the moans (muttered, mostly) which have greeted the bright, bright blue put on Dante and Galileo sills and sashes really point out some long-hidden aesthetic sense in a good number of the local undergraduate population . . . one of whom referred to the effect of that particular color in this wise: "It looks just like one of Doelger's bargain bungalows!" 'Nuff said.

ADD DISCONTENTIA:

In the week's mail was one envelope addressed to: "Senior-Junior Dance Chairman and Committee" . . . and it singed the paper it was written on, you may be sure. For it was from an Oakland belle—invited to the Barn Dance, she found that plans were changed on her, and she had to dig up a gingham dress after being told the first time that it would be a sport dress affair . . . which was not too bad, says she . . . but then she was asked to a semi-formal dance—the Junior-Senior Ball—and then was told she had to go informal . . . her comment: "It is an indication of politeness, proper etiquette, respect, and good breeding, when a dance is permanent, and fixed plans can be made . . . that is my wish for future dances of Saint Mary's College." (Signed) R. A. M.

SIGHTSCENING:

The suddenly silent crowd at Tuesday's scrimmage, when one Charles Cordeiro did not get up after running back the very first kick-off of the tussle—and the return of ease to the bleacher quarterbacks when it was discovered that the trouble was a hip pointer, and nothing more serious . . . the same crowd, as the Stanford-Phoenix score kept coming up by word of mouth—more disbelief setting in every time five runs or so were scored . . . the radically different view from upper Galleo, as the Dolan crews level off Essex barracks . . . the Collegian jeep being wrestled down the Moraga road as Dave Self and Van Dunahoo return from a shylocking expedition to the local merchantry . . . the amount of muscle displayed on a warm afternoon near the two poles in front of De La-Salle Hall . . . the amount of brainpower displayed on a warm or cold morning near the counter in the co-op—but Frank Carillo never has figured out the system to beat the "cut" system.

DID YOU KNOW DEPT.:

That Santa Clara is getting out a handsome yearbook right at this very moment, while here we sit . . . that this much-maligned Collegian is used as a classroom model in one of San Francisco's public high school journalism classes . . . that there will be a new bus on hand at the beginning of the fall semester.

The Bystander

By JOHN STYSLINGER

DEADLINE AGAIN

I think it would be best if I were to begin this week by asking that I be excused for the nature of my material, as well as for the manner of its presentation. Why? Because of a deadline, I am being forced to pick up my pencil in the middle of one of these sultry afternoons when not even the most fertile mind on the campus is inclined to any appreciable activity. Then again, like the majority of you, my brain is overcrowded with other thoughts like the final dance, themes and of the seemingly endless amount of preparation demanded before examinations. And for these reasons it should not be too difficult to realize why this columnist finds himself momentarily lacking in enthusiasm for a job he otherwise enjoys.

Before commencing these incoherent ravings, I thought of devoting the 550 words allotted me to discussing the obvious lack of school spirit. Then after some consideration, I said to myself, What's the use! The moment any prospective reader sees the word "spirit," he'll drop his eyes, and turn back to re-read the sports page. And there would be justification in the act, for spirit is something one cannot appraise. It must be left alone to grow of and by itself. And here at Saint Mary's (contrary to what a few campus idealists would have us believe) it is growing ever so slowly—in leaps and bounds to be more exact. It is here today and gone tomorrow.

TRIED MEMORIES . . .

Giving up the foolish idea of discussing this rather shallow spirit of ours, I thought of spending my words on more pleasant things like memories of the year gone by. Of registration day with its anxieties and lines . . . meeting teachers and prefects . . . the first day in class . . . the Freshmen Welcome Dance . . . the first football rally . . . Herman running crazily down the field . . . the band playing "On to Victory."

Memories of the daily routine . . . joining a club . . . a short-sheeted bed . . . a teacher's dissatisfied look. The trip to L .D. . . . Williams vainly trying to stir a cheer . . . quarterly exams . . . a revolting report card. Movies in Dante . . . the janitor sweeping out the room . . . a cold night at Orinda Corners . . . the sound of Fred's presser . . . a weekend at home . . . a mixer . . . a new date. A spunky basketball team. . . . A lecture by the president . . . a laugh in Public Speaking . . . and there are endless more.

. . . AND AESOP'S FABLES

Turning from these little memories I recalled one of Aesop's fables that went like this: "A hare jeered at a tortoise for the slowness of his pace, saying that he would run against her and beat her any day she would name. "Come on," said the hare, "you shall soon see what my feet are made of." So it was agreed that they should start at once. The tortoise went off jogging along, without a moment's stopping, at his usual steady pace. The hare, treating the whole matter very lightly, said that she would first take a little nap, and that she should soon overtake the tortoise. Meanwhile the tortoise plodded on, and the hare oversleeping herself, arrived at the goal, only to see that the tortoise had got in before her." And as you know, the moral of this is, slow and steady wins the race. . . . Maybe someday our's will be a great spirit . . . time will tell.

On the Level

by FR. EDMUND MOSS

A newspaper item which perhaps received only passing notice prompted the writing of this article this week. An attempt is being made to convert the modest little town of Santa Clara into a "dry zone." We understand that in the university town of Santa Clara no less than 19 liquor stores and taverns are engaged in the lucrative business of selling intoxicants to the natives, much to the distress of many of the townsfolk.

We can well imagine the consternation caused in the ranks of our "prune belt neighbors" when they will be forced to go into San Jose for their occasional beer. What opportunities will be lost for the bar room baritones who are wont to give forth when the lights are low and the liquor is plentiful. It looks very much as if the college scene is rapidly changing.

DRINKING ON UPGRADE

Going to a more serious vein, we might remark that figures indicate that drinking is on the upgrade particularly among college men. The reasons for this are many. However, they are best summed up by the president of the Calvert Distillers Corporation, who made some pertinent comments about drinking in a recent talk which he made while in San Francisco.

He said in part that the liquor industry is plagued with three types of problem drinkers namely, the psychiatric drinker—one who drinks by compulsion to escape reality, the compulsory drinker who imbibes to excess to answer a physiological shortcoming and to satisfy a craving, and the exhibitionist — "the guy who wears the lampshade at parties," the guy who gets "plastered" to show off.

"NOTHING FUNNY"

"Our big problem," said the president of the Calvert Distilleries, "is to make the public aware of the fact that there is nothing funny about a drunk." So speaks a man who represents one of the largest liquor firms in the country.

Today a conservative estimate rates the number of liquor users at 58,000,000. Of this number 2,000,000 are classed as intemperate, that is they can still handle their liquor, but not always gracefully. Then last, but certainly not least, are the 750,000 chronic alcoholics.

Recent figures compiled show that in this last group are many men who held important and responsible positions in the Army, who had an opportunity to build up their "egos". After they were returned to civilian life, many were thrown upon an unreceptive society, shoved back into positions such as clerks, unskilled laborers, or even college students. Many of these, unequal to the task of starting from the bottom, feeling that they will become failures, have taken refuge in drink. It is this last group which presents the real problem for future America.

SAINT MARY'S FORTUNATE

Here at Saint Mary's we have been very fortunate. The war has not affected too many of the students. However, now that the first post war year is drawing to a close, we are afraid that there may be some who adjudge themselves as college failures because they have not done well in their studies. These may become so discouraged that they will "throw in the towel," give up college, and then seek solace in drink.

There will be some others, who will, during the summer, throw off all restraint because college is over and will indulge in three months, "social drinking." There is great danger that these may later become addicted to the habit, which is more subtle than one is often inclined to think.

We warn both groups to keep in mind constantly the thought that there isn't one alcoholic today who didn't at one time in his life say, "I can take it or leave it alone". The safest course is to leave it alone. Then there are no regrets—nor headaches.

Senior Sketch

In the group picture of the Class of '47, there will be found two black-robed figures who wear white rabats in place of ties. Brothers Paul and Felix, having completed the training of a Student Brother, are prepared to enter the teaching life to honor God by serving their neighbor.

Brother Paul first saw the light of day in 1925 in the fair city of Detroit. While yet a very young man, he followed Horace Greeley's advice, moving to Hollywood and then to Glendale, where he attended the Catholic elementary schools. During these boyhood years, his life was much like yours and mine.

A paper route inculcated responsibility and provided for that coveted bicycle or sleeping bag. He merited the "Ad Altare Dei" cross of the Boy Scouts, and earned Life rating as head of the Fox Patrol!

INTO NOVITIATE IN 1940

After only one year at Cathedral High, Los Angeles, Brother entered the Junior Novitiate in August of 1940. Here he finished high school, maintaining a place on the monthly honor roll. As co-editor of the school paper, actor in several plays, and member of the orchestra, playing the mandolin, saxaphone, and harmonica, he developed many talents helpful in his profession.

Brother was on the Midgets in all sports, for he was less than five feet tall then! Many an unsuspecting customer rued the day when he first took up the art of hair-cutting, but since he has become quite proficient.

The secluded quiet of the Novitiate introduced him into the Brother's life of prayer and work, with such activities as cherry-picking and constructing a handball court as "hobbies."

On August 24, 1944, the Scholasticate welcomed Brother Paul to his years of college studies, where he is majoring in Education-English. Thanks to his efforts, the birds on the campus are becoming quite friendly

BROTHER FELIX

Genial Brother Felix, sub-Director of the Student Brothers, though born in Oakland, was raised in the fog-bound metropolis across the bay. He received his primary education at Mission Dolores Grammar School, where he starred as pitcher on the C.Y.O. team. After school hours were spent in playing sandlot ball with none other than the great "Beans" Marionetti!

From 1833 to 1937, Brother attended the Junior Novitiate at Mont La Salle. Though his name was consistently found on the honor roll, he earned a place on the varsity football, baseball and basketball teams, and even found time to indulge in his favorite pastime—improving the gardens and picking grapes! In the Senior Novitiate, while engaged principally in the strengthening of the "inner man," Brother developed his creative talents as gardener, sacristan and librarian.

TAUGHT IN MANILA

For three short weeks in 1938 his home was in the Scholasticate; then he was sent to the Brother's mission in Manila, P. I. Brother began teaching in the lower grades where he aided in making a number of youthful Chinese converts.

For an American Brother, four showers each day were none too many to combat the tropical heat. Of course, the warmer summer months were spent in Baguio, the cool City of the Pines, summer capital of the Philippines.

His peaceful life was interrupted by the bombings of December, 1941, the Japanese lived in the same building with the Brothers for some time (see Brother Felix for interesting tall tales!). After eight lean months in a concentration camp, he was rescued by paratroopers and amphibious tanks, and reached home shores on April 8, 1945.

Like most Brothers in the classrooms, the two graduates will continue their studies for higher degrees during their summer months.

Moraga Musings

SLAP CHAPPY—Who slapped whose wrist this week in a fit of uncontrolled anger down at the candy store Saturday evening? It all started over a discussion about last week's fashion show.

SUNNY BOY—Who are the sun bathers who are cluttering up the velvety green lawns these frightfully hot days much to the vexation of the toiling and conscientious gardeners? Can't blame these boys when they are surrounded by the breathless beauty of this lush garden spot.

TREAD-ITION OF PERDITION—The Muser's tender ears were shocked to hear of you-know-who being seen with that suicide blonde . . . dyed by her own hand . . . at that dreadful grog shop where even bad angels fear to tread.

DINING ROOM-ORS—The sedate atmosphere of the dining hall was visibly shaken when one of the more radical fellows at school scowled ominously at the chef when he was served a dubiousy-looking piece of roast beef. Won't he ever learn discipline! To control his temper!

GOON WITH THE WIND—A certain class in history was the ghastly scene of a chastisement by the learned instructor of a young whipper-snapper who was infringing on solemnity of the gathering by making derogatory remarks with gay abandon. One smarty-pants threw all of the other fellows into fits of boisterous laughter by saying, "Did that cool his water."

PARCEL GHOST—Who was the phantom who dashed over to the post office, picked up a package of goodies from home, locked himself in his room, and did not share the sweets with his chums? You are a contemptible cad.

FAIRY TALE—What particular bunch of your classmates are busy as little beavers heaping ridicule and abuse upon members of the weekly journal? An effort is underway in this column to make the style and material more appealing and understandable to these critics. So there!

FLUBBING THE DUB—On a more serious vain, the Muser humbly offers its apologies to genial "F. C." after yours truly unintentionally did a worthy job of fouling up the detail last week.

Two-Beat Tidings

By BILL STOUT and AL GARBARINI

Jazz is an art which has throughout its history been a victim of unwarrented persecution and accusations. This attitude has risen for the most part out of the inability of the public to comprehend this music. Jazz has not been understood, because many people have not given it the attention and thought which it requires. They are ready to hastily brand it as "ricky-tick" music that was good in its day but is now outmoded.

This attitude toward jazz, that it is obsolete, is as intelligent as saying that Beethoven was a good boy in his day, but his music is now "corny" and old.

Those who understand jazz would be very grateful if its attackers would criticize it intelligently, and without prejudice.

SANCTION JAZZ

Jazz is recognized by many leaders in the field of classical music, such as Leopold Stokowski and Maurice Ravel, who have in the past referred to this music only in superlatives.

New Orleans music has often been and is still criticized as being noisy and without beauty. One should bear in mind that jazz contains no sentimentality. It is a frank, powerful, expressive music that makes no apologies for its existence, and will not alter its nature. It continues today, in its original form singing the lament of the Negro blues, and shouting the joys of simple and beautiful jubilation.

The Negro blues is a haunting sadness; completely free of sentiment. It is a story, vividly told of trials, sorrows, and persecution.

GIFT TO NEGROS

The light-hearted stomps and marches of jazz, describe the intangible feeling of joy and elation which is God's gift to the Negro. There is no sophistication in this music; no attempt to hide the fact that life may often be happy.

If this column has possibly interested you in jazz, may we suggest that the way to appreciate it is to listen to it intently, and with an open mind.
